Perspectives

February 12, 1983

STEFAN WOLPE

One of the most gifted composers of his generation, STEFAN WOLPE (b. Berlin 1902, d. New York 1972) was "a radical populist and a radical individualist who created an original, inclusive, and unfailingly imaginative response to the quest for coherence and communication in post-tonal music." (Austin Clarkson)

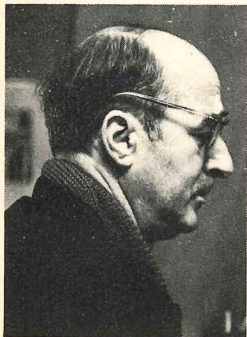

Featured performers: Katrina Wolpe, piano - Patricia Rideout, contralto - Glyn Evans, tenor - The Elmer Iseler Singers.

Music by Stefan Wolpe:

- Three Hölderlin Songs, Op. 1 (1924)
